The boos and shoe manufacturer of New England protests that the dutten imposed upon the materials of their industry cause them to say eighteen millions of dollars, of which three and a half millions go to the Treasury, and fourteen and raif millions to the parties protected.

Our friends in Cincianati took a new departure from the fariff, and Judge Matthews, Judge Hoasly, Mr. Cox and Seneral Burnest issued their manifester. I can add nothing to the description of their own tariff, except to say that even they do not justice to the subject: "It promotes sorruption in legislation and plunder in high places. It has unnecessarily and heavily increased the cost of fiving, crippled our export trade, destroyed our ship-building and paralized our industries. It has erreated mempolies, augmented the expenses of collecting the revenue, encouraged smuggling, stimulated frands and dishonesty in Custom-houses, and so increased the cost of production as so enable foreign manufacturers to undertaking the control production as so enable foreign manufacturers to un-Custom-houses, and so increased the cost of production as to enable foreign manufacturers to undersoil us in our own markets."

The years ago Mr. Sherman said he did not understand the difference between a tariff for revenue and a fariff for protection. His perceptions have been quickened. He sees the difference own and he premises, most faithfully, that if you will but give his party longer power, and himself mother term, he will see that all these evils are amedical and the rates reduced. "Mr. Sherman, on have had theelye years in which to do all this, and one full term since the war. You want another term. Your promises come under a suspicious miss, and they are now 'too late."
